HUMAN SERVICES (HN)

HN501: Foundations of Human Services
This course provides a broad overview of the history, purpose, theoretical perspectives, and current trends in human services. This course prepares you for human service leadership and advocacy careers, including the scope of work, duties, and functions of human service professionals. An emphasis is placed on examining social systems, ethics, multiculturalism, and skills related to human service delivery for families, communities, organizations, and social services in diverse practice settings.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN502: History, Multiculturalism, and Diversity in Human Services
This course explores the historical roots of human services and the need for advocacy and social change. In addition, the awareness of multiculturalism and diversity for human service professionals is emphasized as it relates to social policy and legislation that affects service delivery in a global society.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN503: History, Multiculturalism, and Diversity in Human Services
This course provides an overview of the history, purpose, theoretical perspectives, and current trends in human services. This course prepares you for human service leadership and advocacy careers, including the scope of work, duties, and functions of human service professionals. An emphasis is placed on examining social systems, ethics, multiculturalism, and skills related to human service delivery for families, communities, organizations, and social services in diverse practice settings.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN504: History, Multiculturalism, and Diversity in Human Services
This course explores the historical roots of human services and the need for advocacy and social change. In addition, the awareness of multiculturalism and diversity for human service professionals is emphasized as it relates to social policy and legislation that affects service delivery in a global society.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN505: Skills and Practice in Human Services
This course provides an overview of the comprehensive application of skills, practice, and strategies in the human service field with a focus on applications related to the needs and services for diverse populations and settings. This includes examining self-awareness in the helping process used to work with individuals, families, and groups. You will apply knowledge to analyze, integrate, and resolve issues within the human service field. You will also explore the ethical standards within the field and examine the strategies needed to develop resources for at-risk populations.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN510: Professional Ethics and Personal Values
This course provides an overview of integrity in the human services profession. The course offers an introduction to professional ethics and boundaries, discussing the framework for applying these principles in a professional setting. You will explore personal and professional values and attitudes and the impact on ethical decision-making, as well as applying the knowledge to a variety of real-world situations. You will also evaluate legal and regulatory implications within the field, as well as assess risk management strategies in the human services profession.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN520: Family Resilience Across the Life Span
This course provides an overview of the theory and skills needed to be able to work with family and community services. You will focus on skills needed to provide direct services to individuals, families, and groups. You will delve into family theory, systems theory, and resiliency theory to explore approaches to case management, and individual and group counseling. Emphasis will be placed on helping students to choose the least intrusive interventions in the least restrictive environment.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN521: Developing and Delivering Family Services
This course provides an in-depth look at the development, implementation, and management of family service programs. You will be introduced to the organizational structure of communities and learn how an understanding of these structures and resources can help to develop the required knowledge of global influences on human service delivery, social policy, and community assessment for leaders in the field of human services.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN522: Advocacy for Children and Families
This course provides the required knowledge to become an advocate for change. Emphasis is placed on advocacy work for individuals, families, and groups at all levels, including community education outreach, lobbying, grassroots movements, and community organizing. You will learn the importance of advocating for clients as well as the importance of establishing rapport, identifying networking opportunities, and creating collaborative partnerships within a community.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN523: Research, Grant Writing, and Funding
Developing effective grant writing skills is essential for human service workers to acquire competitive funding from government agencies, private foundations, and corporate entities to further their organization's mission. Writing a successful grant proposal is a valuable and marketable career skill. In this course, you will gain understanding of the grant processes including content knowledge, writing proficiency, strong research skills, community needs assessment analysis, and program development. This course will provide you with the background necessary to develop and submit competitive grant and funding proposals.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN524: Program Development and Administration
This course provides an overview of the conceptual and theoretical topics related to the development and administration of human service programs. Skills needed to effectively develop and administer programs in the field of human services will be discussed. You will learn the tenets of program planning, implementation, and evaluation.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN525: Organizational Nonprofit Management
This course provides an overview of the theory and skills needed to manage nonprofit organizations. You will analyze the history and theoretical foundations of organizational structure, the theories of leadership, and the role of leaders in effectively governing nonprofit organizations. You will evaluate the role of organizational and strategic planning.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

HN526: Master's Internship in Human Services
This course will provide students in the Master of Science in Human Services with practical experience in a professional field. It provides an opportunity to combine academic theory with new, career-related experience. At least 15 hours per week must be devoted to tasks that apply theory and academic content in a professional setting for a minimum of 150 out-of-class hours. Tasks must be delineated in the Learning Contract, which demonstrates an advanced application of academic theory in the workplace.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: Application approval and permission from the Department Chair

HN527: Master's Capstone in Human Services
This course is the culminating experience for the Master of Science in Human Services degree. The course builds on all of the skills and knowledge learned throughout the degree program. You will integrate and synthesize the knowledge and skills acquired throughout the coursework, conducting research related to current topics and challenges in the field of human services in order to demonstrate mastery of program outcomes.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: Last term or permission of the Dean