

MATHEMATICS (MM)

MM555: Applied Statistics

This course provides the foundation for understanding and performing statistical analyses of data with applications. Topics include distributions, descriptive statistics, correlation, regression, tests of hypotheses, and analysis of variance techniques.

Quarter Credit Hours: 4 | Prerequisite: None

MM570: Applied Statistics for Psychology

This course provides students the foundation for understanding and performing statistical analyses of data with applications to psychological research. Topics include distributions, descriptive statistics, correlation, regression, tests of hypotheses, and analysis of variance techniques.

Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None