PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION AND POLICY (PP)

PP500: Public Administration and Management
The course explores the theory and development of the field of public administration and the function of management. It will cover a wide range of topics further explored in the Master of Public Administration program. These topics may include federalism and intergovernmental relations, ethics and administrative leadership, and personnel and resource management. Students will study management processes in the context of a political environment and policy implementation.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

PP504: Research and Writing in Public Administration
Strong research and writing skills are necessary in the field of public administration. This course is designed to prepare you for the demands of academic and professional writing in their coursework, professional career, and for their final capstone project. In this course, you will be introduced to applied research within the field of public administration and have the opportunity to apply course concepts to a policy problem.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

PP510: Leadership in the Public Sector
You will study leadership within the public sector and the application of ethical and leadership principles to decision-making, actions, and interactions within public administration. Topics covered will include: organizational behavior, interest-based negotiation, leading networks, mediation, and leadership style.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

PP520: Finance and the Administration of Public Funds
This course examines the methods, processes, and challenges in the administration and budgeting of public funds. You will examine the budgeting of public revenues, revenue generation, forecasting, cost control, and fiscal management. The importance of managing control issues and transparency will be addressed.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

PP530: Human Resource Management in the Public Sector
This course examines theories, processes, and systems related to human resources management in government, non-profit, and multinational organizations. Topics explored include budget management, employee selection, development, compensation, retention processes, and performance management. The course will further examine labor relations including conflict management, disciplinary actions, sexual harassment, diversity, equity, and inclusion. The legal, ethical, safety, and security considerations in the public sector environment will be applied to real-world situations.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

PP540: Political and Economic Forces
You will explore the impact and interaction of political and economic forces that affect public administration in domestic and international governmental and nonprofit sectors. You will use economic reasoning to better explain this interaction between political entities and economic forces including governments' behavioral effects on markets, the role of competition in the provision of public goods, resource allocation, market failure, and government failure.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

PP550: Persuasion and Policy (PP)
As a final step in the Master of Public Administration, students may choose the nonthesis option and successfully complete a comprehensive exam. This comprehensive exam incorporates the program outcomes of the program. This exam is designed to carefully assess a student's overall learning in the program. Successful completion of the exam allows both student and faculty to measure and acknowledge a successful learning experience for the student.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: Last term

PP560: Comprehensive Exam Capstone
This course addresses the advanced skills necessary to research and create grant proposals to public and private funding sources. You will critically examine request for proposal (RFP) criteria, prepare a grant budget, create sustainability plans and project timelines, and incorporate evaluation metrics into your proposals. Content will cover grant research, proposal structure, financial planning, and the basic elements of a full grant proposal.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

PP564: Political and Economic Forces
You will explore the impact and interaction of political and economic forces that affect public administration in domestic and international governmental and nonprofit sectors. You will use economic reasoning to better explain this interaction between political entities and economic forces including governments' behavioral effects on markets, the role of competition in the provision of public goods, resource allocation, market failure, and government failure.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None
PP650: Public Policy Analysis
The course focuses on the analysis of public policy and approaches to problem solving. You will study qualitative and quantitative methods of policy analysis that aid public policy and program analysts in informing the decision-making process. Examining policies at scales from local to global will enable you to apply tools and concepts across a wide range of issues.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: None

PP693: Public Policy and Administration Internship
This course will provide graduate students in the Master of Public Administration with practical experience in a professional field. During the 10-week term, 150 hours of service are required. This course is an opportunity to combine academic theory with new, career-related experience in legal studies, public administration, environmental policy, or a closely related field. Tasks must be delineated in the Learning Contract, which demonstrates an advanced application of academic theory in the workplace.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: Permission from the Dean, a GPA of 3.75, and completion of at least 25 graduate quarter credit hours

PP698: Master's Capstone in Public Administration
This capstone course is the culminating experience for the Master of Public Administration. This capstone course provides students with the opportunity to engage in research, analysis, and evaluation of current topics and challenges in the field of public administration. Students will integrate and synthesize the knowledge and skills acquired throughout their coursework, conducting their own research related to current topics and challenges in the field of public administration in order to demonstrate their mastery of program outcomes.
Quarter Credit Hours: 5 | Prerequisite: Last term or permission from the Dean