All Purdue Global academic calendars are year-round and employ the quarter system, except for Purdue Global Law School (<https://catalog.purdueglobal.edu/purdue-global-law-school/policy-information/academic-information/>) which uses the semester system.

Calendars A, B, and C are based on a 10-week term and a 30-week academic year.

Calendar E is based on a 12-week term, comprising two, sequential 6-week sessions. This calendar employs a 36-week academic year.

If you elect certain concentrations, you may need to move to an alternate academic calendar in order to complete the courses required. When this occurs, you may experience a delay of 2 weeks or more between the end of the term and the beginning of the next available term in the alternate calendar.
